

A long, narrow outdoor dining table is set up in a lush garden at night. The table is covered with a white tablecloth and is set with glassware, plates, and small floral centerpieces. Several guests are seated along the table, engaged in conversation. A waiter in a white shirt and dark trousers stands near the table, attending to a guest. The garden is filled with various plants, including large green leaves in the foreground and purple hydrangeas on the left. A string of warm white spherical lights hangs above the table, creating a cozy atmosphere. The overall scene is romantic and elegant.
